Appomattox falls to Madiosn Heights

Madison Heights defeated Appomattox 7-2 in the final round of the Dixie Youth Majors state baseball tournament Saturday to claim the 1984 Virginia Dixie Youth title.

The loss was Appomattox's second to Madison Heights in the double-elimination tournament. The local all-star team fell to Madison Heights 5-0 last Wednesday.

Mike Jackson pitched an "outstanding game" according to Appomattox Coach Bob Hudson, striking out 11 batters and allowing only five hits.

Appomattox had four hits, including two by Tom Cobb and one each by Mike Ferguson and Gary Ferguson.

The Appomattox all-stars came back after Wednesday's loss to eliminate Nottoway County's all-star team, 17-7, on Friday night. Mike Ferguson was the winning pitcher for Appomattox, with seven strikeouts, and allowing four hits.

Appomattox had 16 hits against Nottoway. Four of those hits, including a first-inning grand slam home run, came from Mike Jackson. Neal Kelso also had three hits against Nottoway, and Tom Cobb and R. L. Waldo had two hits each in the game.

"Nottoway scored four runs in the top half of the first inning, but we came back and scored six in the bottom of the first," noted Appomattox coach Bob Hudson. "That more or less took the wind out of their sails for the rest of the game," Hudson added.

In Friday's final loss to Madison Heights, Appomattox scored their two runs in the first inning to take a 2-0 lead. But Madison Heights came back in the second inning with three runs, to establish a lead they never lost.

Appomattox had six hits against Madison Heights Saturday, including two by R. L. Waldo, who drove in both of the Appomattox runs.

Leading hitters for Appomattox in the Tournament were Mike Jackson (seven for 13), .538, home run, three doubles), Tom Cobb (four for nine, .444), R. L. Waldo (four for 11, .364), and Gary Ferguson (five for 15, .333).

Madison Heights, with the Virginia state title, was slated to leave Friday for the Dixie Youth Major League world series, which will be played this year in Laurel, Miss.

Fall sports gearing up

With August at hand and the summer quickly running down, the thoughts of local athletes and sports fans are already turning to autumn sports.

A football clinic sponsored by the Appomattox County Recreation Department will be held Aug. 6 at 8:30 a.m. at Appomattox County High School, for athletes ages 14 and older.

Coach Gary Cuccio will supervise the clinic.

Coach Howard Clabough, athletic director at Appomattox County High School, reports that the summer practice schedules for autumn sports participants have been established.

Varsity football practice will begin Aug. 10 at 8 a.m. at Appomattox County High School.

Junior varsity football practice will begin Aug. 13 at 8 a.m. at the high school.

Girls varsity basketball practice will begin Aug. 10 at 9 a.m. at Appomattox County High School, and the girls' junior varsity team will begin practice Aug. 10 at 9 a.m. at Appomattox Middle School.

Clabough notes that "anyone interested in coming out for a fall sport is welcome to do so. Athletes must bring in a physical examination form and an insurance release form the first day of practice. The forms may be obtained from the Athletic Department at Appomattox County High School."

Happiness is 4-H

By FRANK H. SWEET
Extension Agent

Eighteen Appomattox 4-H'ers and six adults are visiting in Bailey County, Texas this week as we complete a 4-H Interstate Exchange Program which began last summer. The Interstate Exchange Program in 4-H provides a chance for young people to travel and learn first hand about the way folks live in other areas of our country.

The current exchange trip with Texas is the seventh such trip in which Appomattox 4-H'ers have been involved. Previous interstate exchange programs have been conducted with Tennessee, Maryland, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Nebraska and Wisconsin.

The 4-H group will arrive back in Appomattox late on Sunday night.

A special 4-H Day is planned at Virginia Tech on Saturday, Oct 13, 1984. This special event might be of particular interest to community 4-H clubs. Highlights for the day will be a football game between Tech and Duke University. Reservations must be made by Sept. 28 in order to take advantage of the $2 per person football game admission for young people 18 and under. A special box lunch will also be offered. Details and reservation forms are available from the Appomattox Extension Office.

The 4-H Photography Unit I project has been revised and is now a full color publication. This project which covers the basic use and care of cameras, as well as the proper techniques for successful picture taking, is provided for 4-H through the Eastman Kodak Company. We have a supply of these projects in the Extension Office.

Each 4-H member who attended Holiday Lake 4-H Camp has been sent a camp evaluation form. We ask each 4-H'er receiving these forms to try to complete them and return the form to us. Through the forms, we can use your ideas and suggestions to improve next year's camping program.

The Annual 4-H Fashion Revue and Canning Contest are set for Tuesday, Aug. 14, at the Appomattox County High School. Categories for the Canning exhibits include: 1) Fruits; 2) Vegetables; 3) Pickles and Relishes; and 4) Jams and Jellies. All exhibits must be entered in the ACHS Cafeteria by 10:00 a.m. on Aug. 14. Each participant may enter one item in each of the above classes.

Fashion Revue participants will model their garments on Tuesday beginning at 1 p.m. Details about the Fashion Revue will be sent to each 4-H'er involved with the clothing classes this summer.
